Starting January 1, 2026, adults age 19 and older without Satisfactory Immigration Status (SIS) will no longer be able to newly enroll in full-scope Medi-Cal. If you're undocumented and currently receiving benefits, complete your renewal on time to maintain coverage.

How to Apply?

- Proof of ID
- Income verifications (recent paycheck or tax returns)
- Housing expenses (rent/mortgage, water bill, PG&E bill, etc)
- Health insurance information

Full-scope Medi-Cal includes comprehensive services beyond emergency care, such as outpatient, maternity, mental health, and more. If you have SIS, you or someone you know would be a U.S. citizens, nationals, and certain non-citizens like lawful permanent residents and refugees would not be affected by these changes.

Medi-Cal Redetermination

Medi-Cal redetermination is the yearly process to confirm eligibility for benefits. Most people with full-scope or limited-scope Medi-Cal will not be affected and will continue receiving coverage. If action is needed, you'll get a renewal packet in a yellow envelope. To stay covered, complete and return the form with any required documents by the deadline.

How to Complete Medi-Cal Redetermination Process

You can complete the redetermination process online at benefitscal.com, by mail, in person, or by phone. Be sure to keep your contact information up to date to avoid missing important notices. If you miss the deadline, you may lose coverage but can request reinstatement within 90 days.
